

- Barnes believed African art was the greatest example of 3-D art

- started collecting in 1922... Paul Guillon
→ more in collecting African art as art applied to universities

- 1917, Barnes & Dewey meet @
Columbia ...

Dewey's philosophy of education
not being told things, but experiencing them

- liked scientific ~~category~~, formal analysis
of works (line, form, mass, etc.)

"Master of the Barnes" (couple ... dogan(?)) couple...
Barnes determined ~~selected the same~~ & the same artist made a couple of these types of sculptures...

Barnes appreciated these sculptures for form not thematic purposes

→ they put a ~~real~~ mosaic on the floor...

Kenzie Clark... didn't replicate the Merin original building.

Clay offerings
$1900 → $500 tuition for semester long classes... (see handout...)

(HW) serendip post reflecting on reading... something else.
something that smelt you in door... etc... anything?

"Getting Mother's Body" - Susan Lori
- cute but sounds like Parks
post-blackness... lol...
